New! Wireless LAN
Pro Access Point
(PCWA-A200)

You can connect your Sony VAIO® personal computers to network without the hassles of installing network cables. Sony VAIO Wireless LAN Pro Access Point is compatible with LAN, DSL, ISDN router and cable modem. With its roaming capability, you can enjoy walking around with your notebook computer while staying connected to the network. The PC card locates any access point with common access point ID (SSID) on the same network.

Now you can send and receive e-mails, surf the Internet and print files from up to 150 feet away.* It's Networking Unplugged.

*Subscription account required for Internet access. Additional PC Cards needed for multiple computer use.
The VAIO® PC Card (PCWA-C100) is sold separately.
